Day Care License Inspection Request

Written approval required from appropriate Zoning office

Note to Applicant

A Day Care License Inspection assumes a single inspection to an existing building where the occupancy classification has not changed and there is no active Building Permit in force, in order to issue a Certificate of Occupancy. If necessary, one additional inspection at no charge will be performed in order to verify the correction of any minor deficiencies. A trip fee of $60 will be charged for each additional inspection. Separate permits will be required for any building, electrical, plumbing or mechanical work needed to correct any substantial deficiencies noted during inspections.

In most cases, a significant change in use of the building will result in the need for a Building Permit to be issued and the existing building will have to be altered to meet all the requirements for the new use. Should a Building Permit need to be issued please reference the Commercial Building Application for further requirements.
